For Professional Partners

As a professional who works with seniors, you know the importance of safety in their everyday lives. At Artis, it is always our highest priority. Because our residents deserve the very best in care, we have partnered with the very best in medicine to maximize the safety and well-being of our residents and staff.

Through our newly formed partnership with world-class physicians from Johns Hopkins, Artis Senior Living communities are now benefitting from the latest science on the coronavirus, helping us to refine protocols and proactively look ahead to any other safety concerns that could arise.

Join us to hear from our team of experts who will share their insight and recommendations on:

- Protocols in Place to Minimize Spread
