

Indie AUTHOR DAY

Saturday,
November
7th

Celebrate books and authors!

11:00 AM Writing with Eileen Palma! Eileen writes fiction for young people, teaches creative writing at Sarah Lawrence College, and began running online writing camps during the COVID-19 lockdown. She's the author of the Popularity Pact Duology, and you can visit her website here:

www.eileenmoskowitzpalma.com

11:45 AM Meet Barbara Josselsohn! This is Barbara's second visit to the library; she is a warm and talented writer and writing instructor, teaching at Sarah Lawrence College. Her new book is The Bluebell Girls. Find out more about Barbara at her website, www.barbarasolomonjosselsohn.com

12:30 PM Lunch break and casual conversation

1:00 PM Meet Local Author Terry S. Johnson, who grew up in Armonk in the '50s and '60s! Terry will read from her latest book, Plunge, which details, in poems, her father's experience in WWII as an airman shot down over Italy. You can learn more about Terry and her books here: terrystjohnsonpoet.com

2:00 PM Final Q&A with all the authors; book sales.

You may attend some or all of the events. For more information about these wonderful authors, please click on their websites.
